

Los Angeles Times

NC-17 rock contender, "on the edge" ... "from the group up, everything is different. ... stage presence ... experimenting with different styles, a heavier, more political slant, creative ... liberating."

MEAN STREET MAGAZINE

NC-17 is a one hundred percent totally happening band!

RIP

...a combo of "the Cure and old Black Sabbath,"

...Not your average hair farmers, NC-17's "heavy mental" sound focuses on lyrics with a political slant.

Find out for yourself...

Aggressive & Stimulating, NC-17 is a band that deserves distinction, providing a needed breath of fresh air through their innovative creativity.

FACTOR X.

NC-17-a cross between Led Zeppelin and REM. With the violin, a saxophone and three part harmonies.

NC-17 has a very different set up. With a flair for deviating from the norm. It seems that NC-17 could accomplish just about anything they set their minds (or music) to.

BAM

Closing the evening was NC-17, a risk taking unit which successfully fuses several different genres into its layered, multtextural, and de sound...of course there is plenty of hard-edge rock in the brew as well. Vocalist Frank Rogala is a dramatic, captivating, and dynamic perfo who held the audience spellbound throughout this hour-long set.

Los Angeles READER

Never ones to stoop to formula, NC-17, as the name implies, is for adults only—not the kind of prurient-interest adults only, but nevertheless adult themes handled in an adult manner. To get a taste of the songs try "Dirty Pictures" or "Fertility Taxi."

...NC-17 songs are well assembled, with tuneful melodies and catchy lyrical hooks ...These guys pull it off (acoustic sets) which says a lot for the strength of their material as well as their playing ability...

MUSIC CONNECTION

They have a good stage show and good arrangements. Vocally the band really stood out. Their harmonies were very well arranged, clear and on pitch the whole night ... Certainly worth checking out ... you should like these guys.
